Systemic Solutions for Green Growth and Decent Work in Africa

Sustainable enterprises are key to tackling environmental and climate change. Join changemakers from across Africa for a high-impact, solutions-driven event exploring how enterprises can lead the way in building a greener, fairer future. Over three days, we'll dive into systemic approaches for sustainable enterprises, contributing to a Just Transition, that align climate resilience with inclusive economic growth and decent work. From bold ideas to practical interventions, this is your space to connect, explore, co-create, and catalyze action.

► Event Highlights

Day 1: Setting the Stage

- Explore the intersection of green enterprise transitions and employment
- Understand how market systems can drive sustainable change and job creation
- Identify opportunities for climate smart enterprise growth
- Discover the challenges and opportunities MSMEs encounter during the shift to a green economy.
- Examine how Market Systems Development can foster sustainable and climate-resilient markets and its limitations.

Day 2: From Ideas to Action

- Discover cutting-edge solutions and real-world innovations
- Focus on adaptation in fragile and climate-vulnerable contexts and how this is linked to market systems development
- Co-design interventions using the Adapt-Mitigate-Thrive lens

Day 3: Mobilizing Momentum

- Shape a collective call to action
- Forge partnerships for long-term impact
- Commit to scalable, inclusive solutions

▶ Who should attend?
